DAILY GAZETTE.

The same of the sa The Fight between the Monitor and the Merrimac.

APPEARANCE OF THE MONITOR. About 9 o'clock P. M. on Saturday, the Withour 9th inst., Ericsson's battery, the Monitor, arrived in the Roads, and upon her performance was felt that the safety of their position in a great measure depended. Never was a greater hope placed upon apparently more insignificant menns, but never was a great hope more triumphantly fulfilled. The Monitor is the reverse of formidable, lying low on the water, with a plain structure amidship, a small pilot house forward, a diminutive smoke pipe aft, at a mile distance she might be taken for a raft, with an army ambulance amidship. It is only when on board that her compact strength and formidable meazs of offensive warfare are discoverable. 🕡

When Lieut. Worden was informed of what had occurred to the other vessels, though his crew were suffering from exposure and loss of rest from a stormy voyage from Now York, he at once made prepara- filled, but the prices charged. tions for taking part in whatever might ocour next day. Before daylight on Sunday morning the

Monitor moved up and took a position alongside the Minnesota, lying between the latter ship and the Fortress, where she could not be seen by the rebels, but was ready, with steam up, to slip out.
Up to now on Sunday the rebels gave no indication of what were their further designs. The Merrimac laid up toward Craney Island, in view, but motionless. At STANDARD MACHINES, one o'clock she was observed in motion, and came out, followed by the Yorktown and Jamestown, both crowded with troops. The object of the leniency towards the Minnesota on the previous evening thus became evident. It was the hope of the rebels to bring the ships aboard the Minnesota, overcome her crew by the force of numbers, and capture both vessel and men. The design was a bold and practicable one, and apparently of easy accomplishment.

As the rebel flotilla came out from Sewell's Point, the Monitor stood out boldly toward them. It is doubtful if the rebels knew what to make of the strange-looking battery, or if they despised it. Even the Yorktown kept on approaching until a 13 shell from the Monitor sent her to the right about. The Merrimac and the Monitor kept on approaching each other, the former waiting until she would choose her distance, and the latter apparently not knowing what to make of her funny looking antagonist. The first shot from the Monitor was fired when about 100 yards distant from the Merrimae, and this distance was subsequently reduced to 50 yards, and at no time during | Our No.3 michines a the two hours of furious cannonading that ensued were the vessels more than 200 yards

It is impossible to reproduce the animated descriptions given of this grand contest between two vessels of such formidable offensive and defensive powers. The scene est sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimer of the scarcely and the scarcely any part of a Trimer of the scarcely any part of a Trimer of the scarcely any part of a Trimer of the scarcely and the scarcely any part of a Trimer of the scarcely and the scarcely any part of a Trimer of the scarcely and the scarc was in plain view from Fortress Monroe, and in the main facts all the spectators rery great. At first the fight was very furious, esting, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual and the guns of the Monitor were fired ranand the guns of the Monitor were fired rapbitters or Schelding schape idly. As she carries but two guns, whilst they can be found at TALL-MAN & CULLINS' and the Merriance has eight, of course she received two or three shots for every one she idly. As she carries but two guns, whilst ceived two or three shots for every one she gave. Finding that her antagonist was much more formidable than she looked, the Merrimac attempted to run her down. The superior speed and quicker turning quality we have always on hand gave. Finding that her antagonist was Merrimac attempted to run her down. The superior speed and quicker turning qualities of the Monitor enabled her to avoid Bathing Spouges, Bathing Towels, these shocks, and to give the Merrimae as she passed a shot. Once the Merrimac struck her near amidships, but only to prove that the battery could not be run down nor shot down. She span round like a top, and as she got her bearing again sent one of her formidable missiles into her huge oppo-

The officers of the Monitor at this time had gained such confidence in the impregnability of their battery, that they no longer fired at random nor hastily. The light then assumed its most interesting aspects. The Monitor ran around the Merrimac repeatedly, probing her sides, seeking for weak points, and reserving her fire, with a coolness that must have been intensely aggravating to the officers of her enemy, until she had the right spot and the exact range, and made her experiments accordingly. In this way the Merrimac received three shots which must have seriously damaged her. The first went in abaft of the smoke stack, and ranged forward. The next shot was put low down on her side, near the edge of the iron roofing, which overhangs her sides somewhat like a penthouse. The next shot was placed nearly in the same position. Neither of these shots rebounded at all, but appeared to cut their way clear through iron and wood into the ship. Soon after receiving the third shot, the Merrimae tacked toward Sewell's Point and made off at full speed, The Monitor followed the Merrimac until she got well inside Sewell's Point, and then returned to the Minnesota. It is probable that the pursuit would have been continued still further, but Lieut. Worden, her commander, had previously had his eyes injured, and it was also felt that as so much depended on the Monitor, it was impradent to expose her unnecessarily. Lieut. Worden, at the time he was injured, was looking out of the eyeholes of the pilot-house, which are simply horizontal slits about half an inch wide. A round shot from the Merrimae struck against these slits as Liout. W. was looking through, causing some scalings from the iron and fragments of the paint to fly with great force against his Chicago Office, - 50 Clark Street eyes. The injury was necessarily very pain. Milwankee Office, 17 Newhall House. ful, and it was at once feared that he would lose one of his eyes. Before, however, he left Old Point, it was thought this danger had been removed. Lieut. Green now has command of the Monitor.

SAFETY OF THE MINNESOTA. The Minnesota all this time remained shore, and it was not until 3 o'clock on Monday morning that the Spaulding, Capt. Thomas, succeeded in drawing her off, and she returned to her anchorage. In order to lighten her, eight of the guns were thrown overboard. Her crew were also removed to the shore, her guns spiked, and her officers prepared to burn the vessel if she could not be got off. Fortunately this calamity was avoided, and the splendid ship saved without material damage. The spikes have already been removed from her guns, and she is prepared to again back her little pre-

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are lid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badiy Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of spead, simplicity of rate quantity to be looked for in a flucture are: certainly of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the leat metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this. grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. THK above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt their condition and sellet business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honombid dening, they have but fine equals, and no superiors. They are familied upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brookly—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and penistment than railread, bunk, and other stocks, which are enthest to the fluctuations of the market, and limble, in times of panic, as the experience of the past tenches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to tasked by publishing partial and one-cited statements of their condition, and without a cosh surplus on band sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above mand companies always have and keep over and above their capital device the amount, and in most instance for times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies said without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Y that Companies, and a certainty given instead of an ancestainty. All losses prempty adjusted and paid.

The Fight between the Moniter and the Merrimac.

APPEARANCE OF THE MONITOR. About 9 o'clock P. M. on Saturday, the Withour Sth inst., Ericsson's battery, the Monitor, arrived in the Roads, and upon her performance was felt that the safety of their position in a great measure depended. Never was a greater hope placed upon apparently more insignificant means, but never was a great hope more triumphantly ful-illed. The Monitor is the reverse of formidable, lying low on the water, with a plain structure amidship, a small pilot house forward, a diminutive smoke pipe aft, at a mile distance she might be taken for a raft. with an army ambalance amidship. It is only when on board that her compact strength and formidable means of offensive warfare are discoverable. -

When Lieut, Worden was informed of what had occurred to the other vessels, though his crew were suffering from exposure and loss of rest from a stormy voyage from New York, he at once made preparations for taking part in whatever might oc-

Our next day.

Before daylight on Sunday morning the Monitor moved up and took a position alongside the Minnesota, lying between the latter ship and the Fortresa, where she could not be seen by the rebels, but was made, with steam up to slip out.

ready, with steam up, to slip out.

Up to now on Sunday the rebels gave no indication of what were their further designs. The Merrimae laid up toward Crancy Island, in view, but motionless. At one o'clock she was observed in motion, and came out, followed by the Yorktown and Jamestown, both crowded with troops. The object of the leniency towards the Minnesota on the previous evening thus became evident. It was the hope of the rebels to bring the ships aboard the Minneso-No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly ta, overcome her crew by the force of num-bers, and capture both vessel and men. The design was a bold and practicable one, and apparently of easy accomplishment.

As the rebel flotilla came out from Sewell's Point, the Mouitor stood out boldly toward them. It is doubtful if the rebels knew what to make of the strange-looking battery, or if they despised it. Even the Yorktown kept on approaching until a 13 shell from the Monitor sent her to the right about. The Merrimae and the Monitor kept on approaching each other, the former waiting until she would choose her distance, and the latter apparently not knowing what to make of her funny looking antagonist.
The first shot from the Monitor was fired when about 100 yards distant from the Merrimac, and this distance was subsequently reduced to 50 yards, and at no time during the two hours of furious cannonading that ensued were the vessels more than 200 yards

It is impossible to reproduce the animated descriptions given of this grand contest between two vessels of such formidable offensive and defensive powers. The scene was in plain view from Fortress Monroe, and in the main facts all the spectators agree. At first the fight was very furious, and the guns of the Monitor were fired rapidly. As she carries but two guns, whilst the Merrimae has eight, of course she re ceived two or three shots for every one she gave. Finding that her autagonist was much more formidable than she looked, the Merrimae attempted to run her down. The superior speed and quicker turning qualities of the Monitor enabled her to avoid these shocks, and to give the Merrimae as she passed a shot. Once the Merrimae struck her near amidships, but only to prove that the battery could not be run less. that the battery could not be run down nor shot down. She spon round like a tep, and as she got her bearing again sent one of her formidable missiles into her huge onno.

The officers of the Monitor at this time had gained such confidence in the improghad gained such confidence in the improgramment, such of their battery, that they no long truth at TALLMAN & COLLINS.

The fight then assumed its most interesting asperts. The Monitor ran around the Merrimac repentedly, probing her sides, seeking for weak points, and reserving her fire, with a coolness that must have been intensely aggravating to the officers of her enemy, until she had the right spot and the exact range, and made her experiments accordingly. In this way the Merrimec received ingly. In this way the Merrimuc received three shots which must have seriously dam-aged her. The first went in abaft of the smoke stack, and ranged forward. The next shot was put low down on her side, near the edge of the iron roofing, which overhangs her sides somewhat like a pont-house. The next shot was placed nearly in the same position. Neither of these shots rebounded at all, but appeared to cut their way clear through iron and wood into the ship. Soon after receiving the third shot, the Merrimae tacked toward Sewell's Point and made off at full speed.

The Monitor followed the Merrimac antil she got well inside Sewell's Point, and then returned to the Minnesota. It is probable that the pursuit would have been continued still further, but Lieut. Worden, her commander, had previously had his eyes injured, and it was also felt that as so much depended on the Monitor, it was imprudent to expose her unnecessarily. Lieut. den, at the time he was injured, was looking out of the eyeholes of the pilot-house, which are simply horizontal slits about half an inch wide. A round shot from the Merrimac struck against these slits as Lieut. W. was looking through, causing some scalings from the iron and fragments of the paint to fly with great force against his eyes. The injury was necessarily very pain ful, and it was at once feared that he would lose one of his eyes. Before, however, he left Old Point, it was thought this danger had been removed. Lieut. Green now has command of the Monitor.

SAFETY OF THE MINNESOTA. The Minnesota all this time remained ashore, and it was not until 3 o'clock on Monday morning that the Spaulding, Capt. Thomas, succeeded in drawing her off, and she returned to her anchorage. In order to lighten her, eight of the guus were thrown 2,140 00 overboard. Her crew were also removed to the shore, her guns spiked, and her officers prepared to hear of the shore of the sho cers prepared to burn the vessel if she could not be got off. Fortunately this calamity was avoided, and the splendid ship saved without material damage. The spikes have already been removed from her guns, and she is prepared to again back her little preserver, if necessary. Ton thousand dollars it is estimated, will repair her damages.— She will probably be shortly relieved and go to New York.

Here is scarcely any part of a Trimmars' stitching that cannot be better done with them that by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor a very great. The table under these machines is 24 inchest long, and the abuttle will held six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones. We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Mannfecturing purposes. We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two-fold view of benefitting thepublic and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in initiation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron cating to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Budly Made, are always hable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair. The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of ourrest action at all rates of spead, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Anothines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and furtised to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a groud scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of sead, but to the tom in the finer traction as the sources of the purchasers of the state of the procession work. may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but had long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will our mare money with less labor than any others, whether in initiation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

Forever float that standard sheet! Where breathes the foe but fulls before us? With Freedom's soil beneath our feet. And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Our reports to-day are of an important and exciting character.

The battle at New Madrid was well contested by our troops, and the evacuation of the rebels left an immense amount of valuable property in our hands.

The Tennessee and Cumberland river forces are within £0 miles of Memphis. A fierce contest, before now decided, was going on yesterday at Island No. 10. Our next reports will be looked for with intense interest.

GEN. GRANT .- The telegraph, Saturday, reported that Gen. Halleck had been instructed by the Secretary of war to supercede Gen. Grant for misconduct at the batthe of Fort Donelson, if he did not ask to be relieved from his command. The "misconduct" alleged against him is probably h's absence from the battle-field during the Saturday foreucon preceding the surrender of the fort. It was stated at the time that his subordinate officers were ordered Friday night to hold defensive positions, and when an attack was made upon a portion of our troops, a defeat was prevented only by Brigadier Generl Wallace assuming the authority to advance his column to the aid of the endangered position.

WHAT WILL SAVE BLOODSHED?-The complaint of those who say that all who object to allowing the rebel forces to evacuate Manassas are indulging a sanguinary disposition, and would hazard a great loss of his successor, it was found that the seleclife when it might have been avoided, is tion was confined to a very narrow range. well answered by the N. THE ERICSSON BATTERY .- The New York Tribune is informed that the Monitor is no new invention of Mr. Ericsson's, but that she is the result of 25 years' study toward an invulnerable siege battery. MILITARY ITEMS .- A requisition has been issued for the transportation of Pinney's, Dillon's and Griffith's batteries to St. Louis. Capt. S. J. Carpenter, 8th battery, has been authorized to proceed to St. Louis as soon as transportation is provided.

The country was appalled at the disaster which anything had been done; and forgetting how cheap pen and ink are, they took it for granted that the author of such glowing dispatches must, in fighting qualities, be the ante-type of Fraderick, of Blucher, of Wellington, and of Rancleon. as an express railway train can run, George B. McClellan appeared in Washington and commenced offering incense at its shrinethough nobody could tell exactly why, nor has anybody yet found out. Everybody reslightest word was treasured up and repeated in whispers; his most casual look was acanned as if big with meaning-and then he was so silent, so reticent, so uncommunicative! There was a mystery about him. He did not confer with his subordi great Napoleon did just zo by his marshals. The newspapers abounded with sketches of his personal appearance, and the shop windows run over with photographs of "the Major General Commanding" in all conceivable and inconseivable attitudes, the most frequent and popular of which was that wherein he is mounted on a farious

Wait, wait, said discreet men (your genuine conservatives), till the hot weather passes army on the eye of a grand onward moveaway. And the hot weather passed away. But the army stood still. Let the autumnal produced an Alexander, a Hannibal, a Carains fall, and the mud dry up! And they sar, a Eugene, a Marlborough, a Frederick, fell, and the mud dried away. It was the leaves we meant-when they fall, then! So not promptly assign him to the latter entethe trees over the Potomac shed their foliage, till they looked us bare as a flock of that some of these commanders left the plucked turkies. But the army remained council with undisguised contempt for their in full feather, and didn't go. Let the ene-my begin the attack—and lo I they began I wish it understoon it at Ball's Bluff. Then was exhibited a fearful amount of incompetency, of slaughter, of treachery-but the Major General Commanding, after Banks had crossed the Potomuc, ordered his return, and refused long, lingering Indian summer, with roads full justice, awarding laurels to those wing more hard and skies more beautiful than win them, and censure to those who de-Virginia had seen for many a year, followed, carrying October, with its dry soil and balmy sun, onward, till December melted into January. This seemingly special invitation of Providence for an onward movement, instead of being accepted, was whiled away in ostentatious parades and gala-day sham lights, where the common soldiery

His "plan" contemplates a general onset upon the foe all the center will fall with crushing weight upon Manassas, and the rebellion will be ended. Be patient! By and by the gallant Burnside, after encountering and mastering obstacles immeasurably worse than all the mud that can be piled between the Potomac and the Rappahannock, opens fire at Roanoke in the east, while Fort Henry on the Tennessee and Donelson on the Cumberland, their brave assailants wallowing to their arm-pits in mire, send the echo back to Albemarle. Mitchell, catching the inspiration, buffets sleet and storm, and by forced marches seizes Bowling Green, while Sigel falls suddenly upon Springfield .-Curtis chases Price quite down into Arkansas, our gunboats penetrate beyond Pulaski and threaten Savannah, and Ben. Of this respectation and the Commanding has enjoyed his luxurious able though somewhat jejune work, the apartments at "these headquarters," and has retired nightly to his downy pillow; while the leaders of divisions and brigades have dwelt under breezy canvas, and the common soldiers have slept on their pullets of straw, often spread on the bare ground. A noble-hearted General said to me :-My camp has been full of agues, intermittents and typhoids all winter. I have done nothing but issue orders for collins. And now, just as the malaria season up proaches, we are to move southward." Believing in the full intent of "the Major-General Commanding" not to move one rad this winter, it has been infamously cruel to forbid the army going into huts, and putting up other suitable protection incident to winter-quartering. But all attempts at this have been promptly arrested and frowned down. Facts are freely circulated on this point, which should make the blood of humanity boil with indignation.

But, at last, the army is going to move

Way? When the people began to learn that this gorggous pageant on the Potomac had already cost them shout $300,000,000 $20,000,000, and was running up a debt that chieftain out of a second-hand railroad su perintendent, was not too costly an experi-Acting upon this hint, a robust official opened his mouth and spake. I think he will, and at an early masses of artillery, and led by such ex perienced officers as Heintzelman, McDowell, Franklin, Sumuer, Hooker, Smith, Me-Call, Casey, Doubleday, and their associates who have seen service, and such recruits from civil life as Banks, Wadsworth, Martindale, Cochrane, and others, who are enger to distinguish themselves, the grand army be McClellan, or McDowell, or Halleck, or Fremont, or the President of the United States, (its constitutional commander-inchief,) or, with concert of action, even if it have no nominal head, will know no such word as fail! that if it be but let loose and precipitated upon the fige, it will grind him to powder. In a word, the army will move, and will win. But no thanks to "the Major General Commanding." He will go forward, be-cause he dare not stand still. He will conquer, because he could not help it if he were

I assert upon the most trustworthy au thority that, in the opinion of the best in formed army officers, Gen. McClellan is not entitled to the slightest credit for any of our recent victories at the east and the west-not the elightest. I assert, and defy contradiction and consequences, that all the real and acting major generals under his command in the army of the Potomac with two or three exceptions at the most, have not the slightest confidence in his capacity as a strategist or a military leader, and that they scout his pretensions to superiority with scorn and contempt.

What would the people say if they were to know that, on the evolof events surpassing in magnitude any that have occurred during this war, the commander of the Potomac should call a special council of war, to be composed of his principal generals-that, at the time appointed, ten chiefs of divisions from all parts of his army attended at his headquarters to confer ment-that, after a single shake of the hand all round, he retired, loaving his father inlaw, a member of his staff, and recently a mere paymaster in the army, to represent him in the council, he, the major general commanding, never appearing for one moment among them during this protracted sitting? Would they not think he was either one of the greatest or one of the ment? And, remembering that war has a Wellington, and a Napoleon, would they gory? And would they hesitate to believe

I wish it understood that I make these statements upon my own responsibility, and upon ample evidence. And yet, for the reasons already given, McClellan will move forward, and, if he finds the foe, his columns will conquer him. The historian of this rebellion will do him and his army

GEN. GEANT .-- The telegraph, Saturday, reported that Gen. Halleck had been instructed by the Secretary of war to supercede Gen. I assert upon the most trustworthy au thority that, in the opinion of the best in-formed army officers, Gen. McClellan is not patitled to the slightest credit for any of our recent victories at the east and the west-not the elightest. I assert, and defy contradiction and consequences, that all the real and acting major generals under his command in the army of the Potomac. with two or three exceptions at the most, have not the slightest confidence in his capacity as a strategist or a military leader, and that they scout his pretensions to superiority with scorn and contempt. What would the people saw if they were to know that, on the eve of events surpassing in magnitude any that have octhe Potomac should call a special council of war, to be composed of his principal generals-trai, at the time appointed, ten chiefs of divisions from all parts of his army attended at his headquarters to couler upon matters of the weightiest concernment—that, after a single shake of the band all round, he retired, leaving his father inlaw, a member of his staff, and recently a mere paymaster in the army, to represent him in the council, he, the major general commanding, never appearing for one mo-ment among them during this protracted sitting ? Would they not think he was either one of the greatest or que of the singless men that ever commanded a vast army on the eve of a grand onward movement? And, remembering that wer has produced an Alexander, a Hannibal, a Carar, a Eugene, a Marlborough, a Frederick, a Wellington, and a Napoleon, would they lucked turkies. But the army remained council with undisguised contempt for their prententions chief?

I wish it understood that I make these statements upon my own responsibility, and upon ample evidence. And yet, for the reasons already given, McClellan will move ferward, and, if he finds the for, his columns will conquer him. VICTORY AT NEW MADRID SATURDAY NIGHT'S REPORT.

HICKMAN, Ky., 14th-8 P. M. The naval expedition composed of the unboats Beuton, Louisville, Carondalet. Cincinnati and Conestoga, under flag officer Foote, left Cairo at seven o'clock this mornng. At Columbus they were joined by the Pittsburg, St. Louis and Mound City, and overtaken by eight mortars in tow of four steamers, with transports, ordnance, &c. The fleet arrived here at 4:30 P. M. mounted picket of the enemy were in sight on the bloff. On our arrival, two companies of the 27th Illinois were sent after them, but they escaped.

Strong Union feeling is manifested here The impression prevails that Island No. 10 will not offer much resistance. There are said to be 2,000 troops at Union, 7,000 at Humboldt, and 15,000 in the vicinity of Island No. 10. At the latter place there are also said to be 12 heavy guns in three batteries.

St. Louis, March 15. Brig. Gen. Pope, in a dispatch to Gen. Halleck, says our success at New Madrid has been even greater than has been reported. Twenty-five pieces of heavy arallery, consisting of 24 and rifled 32-pound ers, two batteries of field artillery, an immense quantity of ammunition, several thousand small arms, hundreds of boxes of musket cartritges, 300 mules and horses, tents for an army of 12,000 men, and an immense quantity of other property, of not less value than $1,000,000, has fallen into our hands. Their men only escaped. The enemy's whole force is demoralized and desperate. The enemy abandoned their works so harriedly as to leave all the bargage of their officers and the knapsacks of their men; their dead unburied; their ann pers on the tables, and candles burning in their tents. A furious thunder storm, which raged all night, enabled the enemy to get across the river without being discovered.

Our heavy battery was erected during the light of the 12th within 800 yards of the enemy's works, and opened at daylight on he 13th, just 34 hours after the guns were delivered to us at Cairo. During the whole day of yesterday our lines were drawn closer around their works, under a furious fire of 60 pieces of artillery. The fear of an as sault on their works at daylight induced them to flee precipitately during the night. Many prisoners have been taken, also the colors of several Arkansas regiments. Our loss is about 50 killed and wounded. ans was in command of the fleet, and tren erals McConn, Stuart and Guett in com mand of the land forces. The rebel gun boats went down the river.

General Pope has 25 heavy gans planted in the enemy's works, which command every part of the river.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

MILWAUKEE, March 17. Special dispatch from Cairo to the Daily Wisconsin says: The mortars began to shell the forts at Island No. 10 yesterday. Their practice comes up to the most san loss, but I know that if it is necessary, you guine expectations. Gen. Pope says the orce with forty-six guns. The action will be hot, but our forces are confident of suc-SANDY HOOK, March 17

The steamer Roanoke, from Havana 12th as arrived. She brings dates from Vera Cruz of the 4th. The Spanish troops were withdrawing from the interior. The Eng-ish forces were to leave the country. The French reinforcements were to leave the country. The French forces were on their way to Tehucan. The Spainards started on the 1st inst. for Orizaba. Merquesa, with 5,000 troops, holds the road from Vera Cruz to Mexico.

An American citizen belonging to Low-ell, bearer of dispatches from the Washing-ton government for Minister Corwin, was murdered on the 21st ult., while going from Vera Cruz to the city of Mexico. Ne otiations between the Mexican government and the allies were to commence at Oriza ba, April 1st. Honduras dates are to the 27th of Feb ruary. A favorable reaction had occurred, and order was being restored. Medina had peon chosen president pro tem. From Havana it is stated that the Spansh barque Theresa had been captured by one of the United States squadron, and de clared an illegal prize.

Catto, March 17th. The robels at Island No. 10 have a very strong position; 46 guns have been count-ed. Eight mortars shelled the battery above the George Page. A large number of splendid guns have been recovered, which were left by the rebels in their upper hatteries. Yesterday the Leslie brought up neither the steamers nor the gunboats of the enemy could pass.

Firing was heard in the direction of New Madrid all day, supposed to be rebel gunhoats trying to force a passage Seven transports near Island No. 10 are hemmed in. Encampments are visible supposed to be large enough for 15,000 to 20,000 men.

FORT MONROE, March 16. Bad weather delays repairs on the telegraph cable.

The congressional committee on naval affairs, and the assistant secretary of the treasury, came down from Washington this forencon and returned to-night, after inspecting the Monitor and other objects of interest here.

WINCHESTER, Va., March 17. Contrabands confirm the report of the distruction of the bridge over Cedar creek, and that Gen. Jackson has retreated up the valley towards Harrisonburg. All quiet at the outposts. NEW YORK, March 17. SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO COLLECTIONS

Our merchants are getting up a subscription for a testimonial to Capt. Ericsson, the architect of the steamer Mouitor.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17. The well known publisher of Dr. Kane's works has offered Parson Brownlow $10,000 for the copy right of his proposed book, giv ing an account of his sufferings.

Louisville, March 17. Friday night's rain swelled Barren river out of its banks, and carried away the pon toon bridge on the river at Bowling Green. Railroad communication with Nashville is consequently suspended for the present. The Ohio is also rapidly rising.

The Markets.

New York, March 17. Flour receipts 11,588 barrels, market dull and 5c lower: sales 6,000 barrels, 5,25a5,35 super western; 5,65a5,80 common to medium extra western. Wheat receipts 21,160 ushels, market favor buyers, moderate export demand.

WHY SHE WAS NAMED THE MONITOR .-The following letter from Captain Ericsson to Assistant Secretary Fox will now be read with interest:

New York, Jan. 20, 1862. Sin:-In accordance with your request low submit for your approbation a name for the floating battery at Greenpoint. The mpregnable and aggressive character of this structure will admonish the leaders of he southern rebellion that the batteries on he banks of their rivers will no longer present barriers to the entrance of the Un on forces. The iron-clad intruder will thus prove a secure monitor to those leaders. But there are other leaders who will also be startled and admonished by the booming of the guns from the impregnable iron

Downing street will hardly view with inifference this last Yankee notion - this Monitor. To the lords of the admiralty the new craft will be a monitor, suggesting doubts as to the propriety of completing those four steel clad ships at $3,500,000 apiece. On these and many other similar rounds I propose to name the new battery Monitor. I am, sir, very respectfully your obedient servant, Correspondence of the Daily Gazette. From the Thirteenth Regiment.

[We have received a long and graphic account of the suarch of the thirteenth regiment from Leavenworth to Fort Scott, by our correspondent "Scott," but as we have already published several discriptions of that affair, so full of incidents "by flood and field," we omit that portion of our correspondent's well written letter. We hope this will not discourage him, but that we shall often hear from the thirteenth, through the medium of his peu.]

FORT SCOTT, Ka., Feb. 27, 1862. EDITORS GAZETTE :- While you James. villians are shivering around the stove and wrapping yourselves in furs and overcouts to keep off Jack F., Esq., we, of the "bloody 13th," are very comfortably rambling about on the Merrimae, and so far at least as he at our leisure in our shirt-sleeves, and watch. is concerned the army is not to blame. ing the progress of the young sycamore York Evening Post writes: buds. Here it is spring without mistake. The frost is out of the ground, the sun is exactly what has come to pass, but many warm and friendly-in fact this is like a of our mayal officers have been entirely very favorable Wisconsin May. It is not February at all.

March So,-I declare for it, Messrs. Edcome down as much as the mercury has done since I began this scrawl. The change was as sudden as it was unexpected, and the weather this morning is as wintry as it then was summery. The boys in camp shiver some and growl more, at the want of the little Camp Tredway stoves, which are scattered all the way from Leavenworth to Fort Scott-"from Dan to Beersheba." But the way they build stoves and furnaces and chimneys in and about their tents would excite the geometrical risibles of their friends materials, and many of the tents are not only quite comfortable but they are what soldiers would call " mighty convenient" for cooking. There is some trouble expe rienced by our commissary in procuring full supplies of flour, &c., but the difficulty will be soon dispelled by the contents of a provision train which has just reached here from Fort Leavenworth.

There are reports and rumors of reports, and "official informations" without number, respecting our future. First: the de- Reported for the Janesville Gazette, partment of Kansas has been abolished, Gen. Hunter gone to Washington in disguat, Lane nowhere, all the regiments concentrating in this state ordered to Tennessee, our own subject to call; Gen. Halleck, and the whole war programme knocked into a cocked hat; then Gen. Deitzler has command of the whole department, the 9th and 12th Wisconsin and 2d Ohio cavalry ordered here immediately, ammunition and stores being hurried forward and a liklihood of our being ordered to Fort Smith, or Fort Wise, or Fort Brown, or fort something else, no body knows where or for what. Then again, Maloney is to have Fort Leavenworth as a post, we are to march back there at once and as many of us as refuse to be sworn into the regular service for three years to be disbanded.

So it goes. We get news two or three days old from Lavenworth, six or eight from Wisconsin, and still older from the east. We are learning to believe nothing till it actually takes place, and we find that the only safe way. We did not dare to credit the news of the fall of Fort Donelson until we received Chicago papers full of the particulars, two weeks old.

Many of the boys were pretty well worn out by the march, and there being not an ambulance to be had at Leavenworth when we started, the sick had a tough time of it getting through. Eight or nine were immediately turned over to the general hospital here. These have since been taken to our regimental hospital, and in all I think there are about eighteen now in the hospital. Only two or three are at all dangerously sick as I am informed, and of these I bave neither names nor companies.

We may stay here a month and then go home as many think, or, we may not stay a week, and in fact it is the opinion of many of our officers that since we have learned to a certainty that a part or all of the 2d Ohio cavalry and the 9th and 12th Wisconsin regiments are now on their way hither, it is evident that we will soon move on, form a a junction with Sigel and Curtis and take that other bugbear, Fort Smith, and then-Finally, I can say nothing more, because 1 have nothing further to say-only thatwe are here! SCOTT.

THE HAMPTON ROADS AFFAIR-WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?-The partizons of the war and navy departments, at Washington, are getting up a brisk little fight as to the responsibility of the affair in Hampton Roads. On the one hand it is claimed that our naval officers, long ago foreseeing that the Merrimac would be a dangerous customer, and being unable to urge a movement on the part of the army to take Norfolk, had prepared the Monitor for this very emergency. On the other hand it is said that Gen. Wool has for months urged an attack on Norfolk, with a view to arrest the work The Washington correspondent of the New

Gen. Wool has more than once predicted skeptical on the subject. Even on Sunday Com. Wilkes was ready to prove that the news could not be true, because it was impossible that the Merrimae could prove a itors, this morning, I change my tune; I will success! Lieut. Smith, of the Congress, who was killed, in his recent letters to his friends here, has more than once expressed his fears that the Merrimae would destroy many of the government ships in Hampton Roads. The allusion to the subject in his letters was so frequent as to convince his friends that he had a presentiment of his Twenty-Five Per Ct. Below Cost.

J. M. BURGESS, Postmaster.

Correspondence of the Dally Gazette. From the Thirteenth Regiment.

f We have received a long and graphic account of the march of the thirteeuth regiment from Leavenworth to Fort Scott, by our correspondent "Scott," but as we have already published several discriptions of that affair, so full of incidents "by flood and field," we omit that portion of our correspondent's well written letter. We hope this will not discourage him, but that we shall often hear from the thirteeuth, through the medium of his pen.]

FORT SCOTT, Ka., Feb. 27, 1862. EDITORS GAZETTE :- While you Janesvillians are shivering around the stove and wrapping yourselves in furs and overcoats to keep off Jack F., Esq., we, of the "bloody 13th," are very comfortably rambling about at our leisure in our shirt-sleeves, and watching the progress of the young sycamore buds. Here it is spring without mistake. The frost is out of the ground, the sun is warm and friendly-in fact this is like a very favorable Wiscousin May. It is not February at all. MARCH 3D .- I declare for it, Messrs. Editors, this morning, I change my tune; I will come down as much as the mercury has done since I began this scrawl. The change was as sudden as it was unexpected, and the weather this morning is as wintry as it then was summery. The boys in camp shiver some and growl more, at the want of the little Camp Tredway stoves, which are scattered all the way from Leavenworth to Fort Scott-"from Dan to Beersheba," But the way they build stoves and furnaces and chimneys in and about their tents would excite the geometrical risibles of their friends at home. Flat stones of all imaginable shapes and Kansas mud are the building materials, and many of the tents are not only quite comfortable but they are what soldiers would call "mighty convenient" for cooking. There is some trouble expe rienced by our commissary in procuring full supplies of flour, &c., but the difficulty will be soon dispelled by the contents of a provision train which has just reached here from Fort Leavenworth.

There are reports and rumors of reports, and "official informations" without number, respecting our future. First: the department of Kansas has been abolished. Gen. Hunter gone to Washington in disgust, Lane nowhere, all the regiments concentrating in this state ordered to Tennessee, our own subject to call; Gen. Halleck, and the whole war programme knocked into a cocked hat; then Gen. Deitzler has command of the whole department, the 9th and 12th Wisconsiu and 2d Ohio cavalry ordered here immediately, ammunition and stores being burried forward and a liklihood of our being ordered to Fort Smith, or Fort Wise, or Fort Brown, or fort something else, no body knows where or for what. Then again, Maloney is to have Fort Leavenworth as a post, we are to march back there at once and as many of us as refuse to be sworn into the regular service for three years to be

So it goes. We get news two or three ays old from Leavenworth, six or eight from Wisconsin, and still older from the east. We are learning to believe nothing till it actually takes place, and we find that the only safe way. We did not dare to credit the news of the fall of Fort Donelson until we received Chicago papers full of the first of the fall of the papers full of the first many tribute and the fall of the first papers full of the fall of the fall of the fall of the first many tribute and the fall of particulars, two weeks old.

Many of the boys were pretty well worn out by the march, and there being not an ambulance to be had at Leavenworth when we started, the sick had a tough time of it getting through. Eight or nine were immediately turned over to the general hospital here. Those here signs and the sick had be seen and the signs of the sick had be seen and the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of the sick had be seen as the signs of t pital here. These bare since been taken to our regimental hospital, and in all I think there are about eighteen now in the hospital. Only two or three are at all dangerously sick as I am informed, and of these I have neither names nor companies.

We may stay here a month and then go home as many think, or, we may not stay a week, and in fact it is the opinion of many | JUST received by MCKEY & BRO, a large invoice of all colors Zephyr Worsted hadrachic classics. of our officers that since we have learned to a certainty that a part or all of the 2d Oldo

SATURDAY, March 14. SENATE.—There was a small attendance to-day, and no business of general impor-tance transacted, except the passage of the bill to repeal the law authorizing the geological survey of the state. The general file was again cleared out. Assembly .- The governor returned the bill in reference to the Racine & Watertown plank road, with his objections; also a hill to establish a highway in Wankesha county. The consideration of both vetoes was postponed until next Wednesday. A large number of bills were considered in committee of the whole.

The meeting at the Baptist church this evening will be held in the upper room. Rev. Mr. Hodge, who won golden opinions yesterday, will preach.

The steamer Comet has commenced running between Milwaukee and Manitowoe.

THE HAMPTON ROADS AFFAIR-WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?-The partizans of the war and cavy departments, at Washington, are getting up a brisk little fight as to the responsibility of the affair in Hampton Roads. On the one hand it is claimed that our naval officers, long ago foreseeing that the Merrimac would be a dangerous customer, and being unable to urge a movement on the part of the army to take Norfolk, had prepared the Monitor for this very emergency. On the other hand it is said that Gen. Wool has for months urged an attack a Norfolk, with a view to arrest the work on the Merrimac, and so far at least as he is concerned the army is not to blame. The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post writes :

Gen. Wool has more than once predicted exactly what has come to pass, but many of our naval officers have been entirely skeptical on the subject. Even on Sunday Com. Wilkes was ready to prove that the news could not be true, because it was impossible that the Merrimac could prove a success! Lieut. Smith, of the Congress, who was killed, in his recent letters to his friends here, has more than once expressed his fears that the Merrimae would destroy many of the government ships in Hampton Roads. The allusion to the subject in his letters was so frequent as to convince his friends that he had a presentiment of his

The sixpounders they have been using have been changed for 36 pounder rifled Parrot guns. This battery company is one of the best in the service, and will prove a terror to the enemy on any field of battle to which it may be ordered.—Louisville Democrat.

WAR FOR THE UNION: A History of the Rise and Progress of the Rebellion, Obnsecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stuges of the Treason Against the Re-public down to the Close of the Conflict, TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPERCHES.

In Wookly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo. Price 10 Cents.

THIE want of an authentic and therough History of the Rebeldon; for present reference and fingre preservation, is the subject of general remark. As work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mages of the runners, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and inclients of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a back of successions. THE want of an authentic and thorough Illstory o the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue c, the history as above set forth—irra form and at a price-which shall render set for it a form and at a price-which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the Snor Az II 19, giving a clear, consentive narrative of the chilre inotement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be amerediary, nor a mere enumeration of dry and maked dates, nor a complication of slips from newspapers, but will portray to connected and interestinguarrative, therevolutionery orapis of the time.

It is true, overybody reads the newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory childs and the moment, and not a correct, coincided and complete history. The above publication, afterwards bound in a handsopp volume, will be a hook for the family, which will be valued like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and-worthy to be kept for glidhen and grand children, as a memorial of the present time. - It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to be well times prove questions, are called the group citizen, every family, every office, every library and is given to the public in the full assistance that it will requirement the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still Clorious touch.
